Llangollen International Musical Eisteddfod welcomes the world to Wales

It's been a long two years of waiting, but Llangollen International Musical Eisteddfod is back with a vengeance, and for four days, the town of Llangollen will be the world's stage. Welcoming talent from all corners of the world, the highlights of the international music event will be centre stage on your screens in a special programme, Uchafbwyntiau Llangollen.

Bringing the excitement to our screens will be presenters Ffion Emrys and Ameer Davies-Rana.

In addition, the international musical Eisteddfod celebrates its 75th anniversary this year. The first was held in June 1947 with the idea that the traditional Welsh Eisteddfod could pave the way to bring nations together following the aftermath of the Second World War to encourage peace. The years following celebrating 'Peace and Harmony' has established Llangollen International Musical Eisteddfod as one of the world's largest music festivals.

Before he heads to Llangollen, we had a chat with Ameer about his expectations of attending the international Eisteddfod for the first time, and he revealed his hidden talent!

How do you feel about being part of the presenting team for S4C's coverage of Llangollen International Musical Eisteddfod this year?

It's a very exciting feeling for me to travel to North Wales to work on an event that's very different to my usual events. I'm looking forward to meeting everybody that I'll be working with in front and behind the camera! And I'm looking forward to meeting people that's going to be in Llangollen itself.

This is your first visit to the International Eisteddfod, do you have any expectations?

I remember watching a clip of Eisteddfod Llangollen when I was in school and it looked like quite the party full of dancing and celebration...so all I can say is that I'm a bit of a party animal, so, SIGN ME UP!

What's the one thing you're most looking forward to seeing?

I'm looking forward to seeing all the faces that will be there and make the most of the opportunity of attending the event for the first time since the pandemic - it's going to be emotional, but also special.

In your opinion, how important is it that the international Eisteddfod is held in Wales?

There's no place like home, as simple as that!

What's your hidden talent?

I can make impressions of Darth Vader and Jar Jar Binks from Star Wars, I'm obsessed with Star Wars so if there's a competition of its kind comes up; look out!

Uchafbwyntiau Llangollen, an opportunity to enjoy a variety of international talent to be shown Sunday evening July 17 at 7.30pm.
