Local Coronavirus restrictions (25.09.20)

Today the Welsh Government has announced extending & introducing further Coronavirus restrictions which will come into force over the next few days.

The link below (which will continuously update as areas are added) gives greater details:
<https://gov.wales/local-lockdown#content>

We are aware that the local lockdowns have brought up more questions and challenges for production and understand people are allowed to travel for work purposes when unable to work from home, and we suggest companies consider supplying letters to workers as evidence of this.

We continue to stress that health & safety systems used by yourselves are Covid-secure and that you continue to be aware of local concerns and perceptions. – The good practice document published by S4C is still valid for the current restrictions.
